Unless defined or depicted otherwise, where the suburb or rural district boundary follows a road, as a general principle the boundary is the centre of the formed road, centre of the median where two carriageways are provided, or the midpoint between each provided carriageway. Where following a watercourse, as a general principle the boundary is the centreline of the main channel.